

Hand on Hart, I love Pink

PINK and her daredevil husband Carey Hart are considering renewing their wedding vows after her marathon Australian tour.

The famous couple are using the singer's Funhouse tour to rekindle their relationship and Hart said last night they might exchange vows again when they returned to the US.

Pink and Hart separated in February last year after two years of marriage, but have since reunited and will spend the next three months touring Australia for her sold-out shows.

"We have nothing planned while we're here," he said when asked about the couple renewing their vows.

"We're definitely back together and moving forward.

"All the little stuff will sort itself out.

PETER ROLFE

"The main goal is to be together on tour and right now that's what we're doing."

Hart also said they were searching for an AFL team to support during their Melbourne visit.

"We're going to try to get to a game for sure," Hart said.

Pink and Hart gave a public display of affection yesterday, kissing outside Rod Laver Arena as the motocross star treated fans to a sample of his high-flying two-wheel feats.

The pop star twice stopped to view the action between sound checks at Rod Laver where she last night played the first of 15 shows.

The star of hits such as So What? and Get the Party Started said she had hatched a plan to keep Hart entertained in a corporate box at each of her shows.

"I make sure he has a beer constantly," she said.

"A constant supply of VB."

Pink also joked about breaking Australian music star John Farnham's record of 12 sold-out solo Melbourne shows.

"He gave me his blessing," she said.

Pink sent the crowd into a frenzy when she arrived unannounced at Hart's motocross exhibition in a sleek black Jaguar.

Security held back hordes of teenage fans who rushed forward to catch a glimpse of their hero, hours before she was due on stage.

Nationally, her tour has sold more than 530,000 tickets, including more than 158,000 in Melbourne.

Flying high: Motocross enthusiast Carey Hart (right) performs some stunts before wife Pink's (left) concert at Melbourne Park last night.

Pictures:
ALEX
COPPEL

